Computing spectra of Van der Waals clusters

Prof. Tucker Carrington jr., Chemistry Department, Queen’s University, Kingston, Ontario, Canada

Van der waals molecules are loosely bound and strongly coupled and their spectroscopy can therefore not be understood with a rigid rotor + harmonic oscillator model. Using an accurate potential and solving the ro-vibrational Schroedinger equation we have studied (NNO)_2. Numerical results will be presented and advantages of different coordinate systems will be discussed.