Open-topic student conference to mark
Bielefeld University's 50th anniversary

Student Research:
Studierende machen Wissenschaft
14 November 2019

Call for Participation

www.uni-bielefeld.de/50jahre/studierendenkonferenz
What exciting topics are you working on?

You have written a paper or given a presentation that you are proud of? Or maybe you have conducted an empirical study, an experiment or a student research project with interesting results? You are able to explain your topic to students and lecturers from other disciplines?

Take part in the student conference in Bielefeld University’s anniversary year and present your own project to fellow students and teachers. The student conference on 14 November 2019 is part of a two-day program dedicated to the research done at Bielefeld University. The format of this scientific conference offers students an extraordinary opportunity to present their topics as researchers and to discuss them with others.

Students of all subjects and all semesters, at Bachelor or Master level, with all topics are welcome!

Your contribution can be
- a 20-minute talk or a scientific poster (including a poster presentation)
- in German or in English
- presented by yourself or as a group

Interested? Submit an abstract of 300 words by 31 May 2019.

Visit our website to submit your abstract and to have a look at a list of FAQs with further information about the format of the abstract, the conference itself and accompanying pre-conference workshops: www.uni-bielefeld.de/50jahre/studierendenkonferenz

Be part of the student conference, because as a student at Bielefeld University you are doing science!

Organizers: Scientific Board for Bielefeld University’s anniversary in cooperation with the Center for Teaching and Learning (CTL) at Bielefeld University