

ZiF WORKSHOP

Is and ought: The Ethical and Legal Relevance of Moral Psychology

Convenors: Christoph Bublitz (Hamburg), Norbert Paulo (Salzburg)

11 – 12 May 2017

11 MAY 2017

09:30 Welcome by Marc Schalenberg, ZiF (Academic Assistant to the Board of Directors) and the convenors

Section I: Empirical Perspectives

10:00 – 10:30 Statements

10:30 – 10:45 - Coffee Break -

10:45 – 11:45 Sylvia Terbeck (Plymouth): The neuroscience of intergroup relations; what are the normative implications?

11:45 – 12:45 Simone Schnall (Cambridge): Disgust as embodied loss aversion

12:45 – 14:15 - Lunch Break -

14:15 – 15:30 Short Inputs by Alex Wiegmann & Joachim Horvath; Hannes Rusch; Victor Kumar

Section II: Empirically Informed Ethics

15:30 – 16:30 Mark Alfano (Delft): From norms to facts and back again

16:30 – 17:00 - Coffee Break -

17:00 – 18:00 Hanno Sauer (Utrecht): Vindicating Arguments

18:00 Dinner at ZiF

19:30 – 21.00 Public Lecture (in German):
Prof. Dr. Julian Nida-Rümelin (München)
Freiheit und Deliberation – zwischen Philosophie und Neurowissenschaft

12 MAY 2017

Section II (continued)

---

09:30 – 10:30	Victor Kumar (Toronto): The Weight of Empathy
10:30 – 11:00	- Coffee Break -
11:00 – 12:00	Antti Kauppinen (Tampere): How to Survive a Trolley Accident
12:00 – 13:00	Norbert Paulo (Graz/Salzburg): The Use and Abuse of Cases in Moral Reasoning
13:00 – 14:15	- Lunch Break -
14:15 – 15:15	Frank Hindriks: Responsibility without Consciousness: The Role of Rationalization

---

Section III: Moral Psychology and the Law

---

15:15 – 16:15	Christoph Bublitz (Hamburg): Legal Reasoning & Moral Psychology
16:15 – 16:45	- Coffee Break -
16:45 – 17:45	Round-Table-Discussion Moderator: Stefan Magen (Bochum)

---