The Bielefeld Graduate School in History and Sociology (BGHS) is a joint institution of the Department of History and the Faculty of Sociology at Bielefeld University (Germany). The BGHS is a learning community of doctoral researchers and within the DAAD-Graduate School Scholarship Programme (GSSP) invites applications for

Two doctoral scholarships for Internationals with a maximum duration of 4 years, starting 1 April 2024.

Description: We are seeking highly motivated researchers especially from developing and emerging countries with a genuine interest in an academic environment that fosters creativity through interdisciplinary exchange. Successful candidates are expected to conduct research within the doctoral programme and, in the end, receive the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in history or sociology. The BGHS promotes research in the fields of history, art history, sociology, political science, social anthropology and didactics of social sciences in the research areas covered by the BGHS.

Qualifications: Applicants should hold an excellent international Master's degree or equivalent in history, sociology, political science, social anthropology, or related disciplines; must not have been resident in Germany for more than the last nine months before the application; should not have graduated any longer than six years before the time of application; must not have completed a PhD previously.

All information on the application process and the evaluation procedure can be found at: <https://www.uni-bielefeld.de/einrichtungen/bghs/bewerbung-beratung/ausschreibungen/index.xml>

Please also read carefully the information provided in the FAQ. Applications – in English or German language – must be submitted online by 30 April 2023.

Terms of the scholarship: The scholarships have a duration of 4 years and include a scholarship payment of EUR 1,200 per month; a country-dependent travel allowance; a combined health, accident and liability insurance; a study and research allowance; if applicable, a rent subsidy and family allowances; and the financing of a German language course.

The BGHS strives to create a workplace free from discrimination. We strongly encourage women to apply. Qualified candidates with severe disabilities or similarly disabled candidates are explicitly encouraged to apply.
