

CURRICULUM VITAE

Name: Sakari Lemola

EDUCATION

5/2014	University of Basel, Venia Docendi (Habilitation) in psychology. Title: Positive development: An ecological and biodevelopmental perspective
1/2003 – 4/2007	University of Basel, Ph.D. in psychology Topic: Substance use during pregnancy and psychopathology after childbirth
10/1995 – 11/2002	University of Berne, Degree of Psychology (so-called licentiatus philosophiae) Major: Developmental Psychology Minor: Social Psychology 2 nd Minor: Psychopathology

POSITIONS HELD

1/2020 – present	Professor for Developmental Psychology and Developmental Psychopathology at the Department of Psychology, Bielefeld University, Germany.
9/2019 – 12/2019	Reader for Lifespan Health and Wellbeing at the Department of Psychology, University of Warwick, UK.
2/2018 – 8/2019	Associate Professor for Lifespan Health and Wellbeing at the Department of Psychology, University of Warwick, UK.
2/2016 – 1/2018	Assistant Professor for Lifespan Health and Wellbeing at the Department of Psychology, University of Warwick, UK.
8/2014 – 1/2016	Assistant Professor for Personality and Developmental Psychology at the Department of Psychology, University of Basel, Switzerland.
3/2009 – 7/2014	Senior Postdoc at the Department of Psychology, University of Basel, Switzerland.
3/2008 – 2/2009	Postdoc at the Department of Psychology, University of Helsinki, Finland.
4/2007 – 2/2008	Postdoc at the Department of Psychology, University of Basel, Switzerland.
4/2005 – 3/2007	Research assistant at the Faculty of Psychology, University of Basel, Switzerland.
1/2003 – 3/2005	Research assistant at the Department of Psychology, University of Berne, Switzerland.